Multinational corporations see both benefits and downsides of globalization. On the positive side are an increased access to markets, more labor options, partnership opportunities and possibly lower taxes. A disadvantage is that coordination can be harder with different languages and cultural norms.

A multinational corporation (MNC) is a corporate organization that owns or controls production of goods or services in at least one country other than its home country. Black's Law Dictionary suggests that a company or group should be considered a multinational corporation if it derives 25% or more of its revenue from out-of-home-country operations. However, a firm that owns and controls 51% of a foreign subsidiary also controls production of goods or services in at least one country other than
