Susan Alpert has spent the last decade bringing help and a vital message to audiencespreparing for, and handling loss. Although this is a foundation for facing the future for people of all ages, seniors are particularly vulnerable to these scenarios. The natural question to follow for this growing population is "What happens next?" The answer, although often slowly coming is "There's more life still waiting for you." As a single senior there may come a time when you crave companionship, activity, a partner. Finding that next chapter in the 21st century has created the need for older people to connect through social media. It's not only acceptable, it's almost a necessity. The number of online dating sites for the 'mature adult' has exploded. When a match is made, that otherwise might not have happened, life opens up again. You find excitement, adventure, vitality, aliveness and even love. That is what happened to Susan. Meeting Stephen Morse began a new phase in both their lives. They decided to share their story by writing a 'he said', she said' autobiographical book, chronicling how it started, what it encompassed and where it went. There's a lesson here for not only seniors, but for others to glimpse into the mind of elders, their needs, hopes and behaviors. So, you think adults in their 70s aren't computer-savvy? Do you believe the myth that we're too old for online dating, and that new love is impossible or unnecessary after a "certain age"? Do you assume that seniors are complacent and have no adventure left in us, that our recliners and TVs are enough to keep us happy, that we have given up on starting over? Think again. This is the true story of Susan and Stephen, two strangers from opposite ends of the country who met online fell in love over email and came together for romance and adventure. Join us for the twists and turns, and ups and downs, and most importantly, for the reminder that one is never too old for a new love.

Under a provocative title, first time author Ilyse R. Atema leads seniors through the maze of online dating. Looking for my Libido is a humorously insightful, and no-nonsense guide about dating and relationships during one's later years. Using a meaningful balance of risk and reward, it encourages and coaches both men and women wanting to rekindle romance. The authors behind the ubiquitous dating bible that launched a worldwide movement are back, accompanied by their daughters, with brand new advice updated for the modern era. How long should I wait to respond to his text message? Can I friend him on Facebook? Why did he ask for my number but never call me? When The Rules was published in 1995, its message was straightforward: be mysterious. But for women looking for love today, it's not quite so simple. In a world of instant messaging, location check-ins, and status updates, where hook-ups have become the norm and formal one-on-one dates seem a thing of the past, it's difficult to retain the air of mystery that keeps men interested. Now, with help from their daughters, the original Rules Girls Ellen Fein and Sherrie Schneider share their thoroughly modern, fresh take on dating that will help women in today's information age create the happy love lives they want and deserve. Whether you're a 20-something dating for the first time, a 30-something tired of being single, a 40-something giving advice to your daughter, or a 50-something getting back in the dating game, this book has the answers you've been waiting for. The Rules include: Stay Away from his Facebook Profile Make Yourself Invisible and Other Ways to Get Out of Instant Messaging Stop Dating a Guy Who Cancels More than Once Text-Back Times Chart Don't Just Hang Out or See Him 24/7 TTYL: Always End Everything First-- Get Out of

There! And much, much more! Providing the dos and don'ts you need to stop making mistakes and start finding romance, Not Your Mother's Rules will revolutionize dating today just as The Rules did nearly 20 years ago!

This adult book was written to help seniors of both sexes, who may be widowed or divorced, and are now exposed to an arena in which they are unfamiliar, and ill equipped to cope. The book contains several chapters of hints or suggestions on how to conduct oneself in an attempt to find a partner, and what is necessary to find a comfortable single senior existence. It covers subjects like how today's dating differs from that of years ago, as well as the new unwritten rules for senior dating. Several chapters chronicle the ups and downs of the author as he travels and dates females of all sizes and shapes and age groups. His zeal is that of a much younger man and is never ending in his quest for a meaningful relationship. However his efforts, in many cases, serve as an example of what not to do. The how and why of dating for seniors, are discussed, as are situations to be cognizant of, and situations to be aware of. Possible opportunities of where and how to find a partner is discussed in detail with telephone numbers of various groups. The pro's and con's of joining singles groups is one of the many subjects explored. What dating is all about for seniors and how each date can be a learning process, is included and what is acceptable and not acceptable behavior. It explains how some single females who may not be cognizant of their behavior, are actually subconsciously setting themselves up psychologically, to avoid any kind of a long term commitment. Many seniors follow standards learned in their youth, including proper dress and behavior, which is sometimes, unknown to them, to their detriment. How to avoid dead-end situations is one of the many situations shown by example. One chapter is devoted to Internet dating and the wild personal experiences, both good and bad, of the author, in exploring this particular avenue. Several chapters are devoted to the outrageous sexual experiences of the author while dating single ladies of various ages from 21 to 65 years old. His experiences during his travels, inside and outside the country, plus a singles cruise, are factual and hilarious. Reading

Technically, a person is considered a senior citizen when they reach the age of 65. However, that's not always the way the general public feels - especially those who have hit the age of 50. To some people, this might send them into spasms of denial. After all, how can you be 60 when you still feel 30 in your mind? But, really, that's a good way to think. It's been said many, many times that age is simply a number - it's a state of mind how old you actually are! If you're over 50 years old, you've likely heard many times by now that you're over the hill. What started this rumor that once you've reached the middle of your life, it's all downhill from there? Today's baby-boomers will stop at nothing to put an end to this rumor. They'll prove that the over 50 crowd is stronger and smarter than ever. Those over age 50 are more physically active than ever. Many have a decent amount of disposable income. They are politically active, culturally motivated and in tune with modern trends. Mark Twain once said "Age is an issue of mind over matter. If you don't mind, it doesn't matter." Truer words, I think, have never been spoken! So you're a senior citizen - so what! Life doesn't have to be relegated to planting flowers and rocking on your front porch talking about the good old days. Believe me; the good old days are just starting! "I've known Sylvia Smith five decades. She is brutally honest, intelligent and witty. If she said it...Believe it!" Janie Bradford-An American songwriter most known for her tenure with Motown. Nothing! I've known Sylvia Smith since our Motown/Detroit days over forty years ago. I trust her heart. When representing me... as she often does, her judgement is impeccable." Ray Parker, Jr. - Is an American musician. Singer, songwriter, record producer and actor. He also wrote and performed the theme song Ghostbusters in the 1984 movie Ghostbusters. A groundbreaking book about how your personality type determines who you love Why do you fall in love with one person rather than another? In this fascinating and informative book, Helen Fisher, one of the world's leading experts on romantic love, unlocks the hidden code of desire and attachment. Each of us, it turns out, primarily expresses one of four broad personality types—Explorer, Builder, Director, or Negotiator—and each of these types is governed by different chemical systems in the brain. Driven by this biology, we are attracted to partners who both mirror and complement our own personality type. Until now the search for love has been blind, but Fisher pulls back the curtain and reveals how we unconsciously go about finding the right match. Drawing on her unique study of 40,000 men and women, she explores each personality type in detail and shows you how to identify your own type. Then she explains why some types match up well, whereas others are problematic. (Note to Explorers: be prepared for a wild ride when you hitch your star to a fellow Explorer!) Ultimately, Fisher's investigation into the complex nature of romance and attachment leads to astonishing new insights into the essence of dating, love, and marriage. Based on entirely new research—including a detailed questionnaire completed by seven million people in thirty-three countries—Why Him? Why Her? will change your understanding of why you love him (or her) and help you use nature's chemistry to find and keep your life partner.

A comprehensive and intimate guide to finding, keeping, and enjoying love after fifty, the best kind of love there is. Studies keep showing that love after fifty is more satisfying than at any other stage in life, and it makes sense: at this stage, you are more emotionally stable and more focused on the present; you know what you absolutely have to have, but also what you can live without; partnering is no longer about building family and fortune—it's about sharing intimacy as grounded individuals. And sex isn't pass/fail anymore, but about becoming erotic friends. So, if this is the promised land, how do you get there? In Love After 50, journalist Francine Russo interviewed the best experts in the field and dozens of couples to help show the way. Her "practical, excellent guide" (John Gottman, author of The Seven Principles for Making Marriage Work) includes advice like: -How to recover from the emotional damage of divorce, the grief of widowhood, or a history of unfulfilling relationships -How to build realistic requirements for a partner -What attitudes to bring to dating -How to overcome the psychical challenges of sex and embrace your erotic selves -How to evaluate the financial, emotional, and practical results of marrying, living together, or living apart -How to deal with (hostile) adult kids to safeguard your relationship and family Love After 50 is "essential reading" (Pauline Boss, PhD, author of The Myth of Closure) that is not only practical but also unassuming and candid. It is full of real people's stories (including the author's), with vivid examples of couples who have overcome their pasts to form healthy and nurturing partnerships. In other words, it's as real as love after fifty can be.

Dutch Treat, Senior Dating and Other Stories is a collection of short stories about the searching we all do at any age for connection with acquaintances, friends, lovers, and pets. It is witty, poignant, realistic and bound to elicit sighs, smiles, giggles and laughter.

I am an idiot! That's right, I am an honest to goodness, true blue, naive, stubborn, American made, why-me, idiot! And after reading this book, I'm sure you'll agree as to my statement. You may empathize with me, you may laugh at me, you may even agree with me, but one thing is for sure...I am an idiot! This is a humorous (sometimes serious) look into the life of a frequent dater who, now being a senior, is still trying to find that elusive "perfect" partner. But while searching, just about everything goes wrong . . . with almost everyone! But prior to this time, it is important to understand how, at a very young age, this author had been greatly influenced by his large Italian family and the lasting impressions it made on him. He observed couples whose relationships endured the test of time as they stayed loyal and faithful to one another. This made a lasting impression on this boy and he quickly realized that's what he wanted out of life. But this search turned out to be very elusive with many pitfalls along the way. Read how he discovered the true meaning of what cold showers were REALLY meant for the true way to play Bocce Ball. . .hammered on Grappa! And while trying to find that "perfect" partner, he came across a myriad of characters. Read about what really goes on at some up-scale bar scenes and online dates. Hookers, gays, women with no teeth, sex starved, power drinkers, infidelity - and that was just one person! But the author pressed on undeterred (somewhat). He even resorts into trying a Testosterone Booster that will help guide him down that (also) elusive path of: "I miei testicoli senior sono in ginocchio." Which translates to - "My senior testicles are down by my knees." Even if you are not in search of a relationship, partner, companion, or friend, you will still find this book entertaining and amusing as you read about the shenanigans of a true blue, honest to goodness, dating idiot. And if you happen to be one of the millions of souls that is looking for Mr. and/or Mrs. Right, then you may find this book to be helpful and hopefully give you the confidence needed to keep trying. . .especially after what happened to me!

Today's baby-boomers have a decent amount of disposable income. They are politically active, culturally motivated and in tune with modern trends. With maturity comes new knowledge and experiences that you can embrace and enjoy. You are blessed with the past memories you can share with those around you, your loved ones. But what if you're a single senior? Is all hope lost for sharing your life and those memories with someone else? Not any more. Many of those over the age of 50 actively date. Loss of a spouse or partner due to death or divorce or other life situation is no longer the beginning of many lonely years spent in mourning. Instead, dating for the over 50 crowd is big business. If you're over 50 and you'd like to date, put your fears aside. There are so many safe ways to meet others who are in a similar situation. No longer do those over 50 have to rely on friends or family or neighbors to provide them with dating opportunities. A quick search on the Internet shows there are many, many websites dedicated to dating for the senior set. But it can be daunting, especially for those who aren't Internet savvy. That's where this book comes in! Inside this book, you'll find everything you need to know to get started in the online dating scene. We'll give you all kinds of tips and tricks on how to create your online profile, what to look for in a potential date, and ways to keep yourself safe.

Internet Dating deals primarily with the experiences of UK and Australian daters, examining their online accounts to see what kinds of narratives, norms, emotions and 'chemistry' shape their dating. Has the emergence and growth of internet dating changed the dating landscape for the better? Most commentators, popular and academic, ask whether online dating is more efficient for individuals than offline dating. We prefer a socio-political perspective. In particular, the book illustrates the extent to which internet dating can advance gender and sexual equality. Drawing on the voices of internet daters themselves, we show that internet dating reveals how social change often arises in the unassuming, everyday and familiar. We also pay attention to often ignored older daters and include consideration of daters in Africa, Scandinavia, South America, Asia and the Middle East. Throughout, we explore the pitfalls and pleasures of men and women daters navigating unconventional directions towards more equitable social relations.
