I opened his new volume, Unpacking the Boxes, glad he was still writing, expecting to once again be captured by his honesty and poetic language. This is a memoir of his work of poetry, going back to high school (and earlier) and ending quite recently.

Hall describes the meaning of the title of his book "Unpacking the boxes". His mother died in 1994, at age 90, while his wife, the poet Jane Kenyon, was ill. He emptied his mother's house, and a moving van took seventy or eighty boxes to his house, and also to a cottage the family owned nearby. Hall's wife died a few years later.

Unpacking the Boxes is a revelatory and tremendously poignant memoir of one man's life in poetry.
