It's the notion that this is our one and only life, that after this life we return to non-existence (from whence we supposedly came). The problem is that when you look at this logically, it doesn't seem to make sense. The Earth has been around for 4.5 billion years. Humans have been around for about 150,000 years, or 0.003% of that time.

Maybe we don't all experience these loves in this lifetime, but perhaps that's just because we aren't ready to. Maybe the reality is we need to truly learn what love isn't before we can grasp what it is. Possibly we need a whole lifetime to learn each lesson, or maybe, if we're lucky, it only takes a few years.

Answers. It's true that we have only one life. In this life we cannot do everything as we like. If we do we have to face the consequences. For everything there is a price. For some we do not know how we pay but we are paying without knowing that we are paying.
